

Real Estate Legislation & Executive Regulations

Section 1: Registration Procedures

The unified registration fee for all residential real estate units is strictly set at 2% of the total value declared in the sale contract. This fee must be paid to the Real Estate Registry Office before the final title deed is issued.

Section 2: Legal Documentation

Applicants must provide a valid national ID, the original sale contract, and a property tax clearance certificate. Failure to provide these documents will result in a 30-day suspension of the application.

Section 3: Exemptions and Reductions

First-time homebuyers may be eligible for a 0.5% reduction in registration fees if the property value is below 1,000,000 EGP.

Social housing units are exempt from the unified registration fee, provided the applicant meets the low-income criteria set by the Ministry of Housing.

Section 4: Penalties and Late Fees

A penalty of 1% per month is applied if the registration process is not initiated within 90 days of the sale contract date.

Providing false documentation or declaring a property value significantly lower than the market average may result in legal prosecution and a fine of up to 50,000 EGP.
